

Drys to Turn Big Guns Loose On Wet Ships

Wheeler Going to Daugherty Hearing Thursday With Voluminous Brief for the Anti-Saloon League

Gets Nation-Wide Backing

Will Urge Complete Ban on Liquor in 3-Mile Limit; U. S. Board to Give Views

From the Tribune's Washington Bureau
WASHINGTON, July 9.—A hot legal battle between the dry forces and those who are contending for the sale of liquor on American ships will be fought out before the Department of Justice at the hearing on this question Thursday. Wayne B. Wheeler, counsel for the Anti-Saloon League, said to-night that a long list of prominent dry organizations had wired him to present their protests against liquor on American vessels. Mr. Wheeler will present a voluminous brief and has prepared and will present an oral argument. The Shipping Board will be represented by counsel.

Following are some of the organizations which have sent protests to Mr. Wheeler:

The Northern Baptist Committee, representing the Northern Baptist Church, at the request of Samuel Z. Barton.

The Commission on Social Service of the Southern Baptist Convention, representing the Southern Baptist Church, at the request of A. J. Barton.

The Commission of the Congregational Churches of America, at the request of Dr. Walter A. Morgan.

The Commission of the Churches of Christ, at the request of Milo J. Smith.

N. Y. Civic League Protests
The New York Civic League, at the request of O. R. Miller.

The Permanent Temperance Commission of the United Evangelical Church, at the request of the Rev. H. Franklin Schlegel.

The Board of Temperance and Moral Welfare of the Presbyterian Church, at the request of Thomas Watterson.

The Episcopal Church Temperance Society, at the request of the Rev. Dr. James Empringham.

The Commission on Temperance and Social Service, Methodist Church South, at the request of Bishop James Cannon, Jr.

The Social Service Committee of the United Presbyterian General Assembly, at the request of H. H. Martin.

The Intercollegiate Prohibition Association, at the request of Harry S. Warner.

The Prohibition Board of the Five Years Meeting of Friends, at the request of the Rev. S. E. Nicholson.

Would Enforce Three-Mile Clause
Various other local organizations have wired Mr. Wheeler to present their appeal for a construction of the law which will prevent liquor selling on American ships and to insist upon the enforcement of the law which prohibits the possession of beverage intoxicants within the three-mile limit.

Mr. Wheeler, on behalf of the Anti-Saloon League and other dry forces, will insist that the only way the United States can protect itself from the illicit selling of liquor is to enforce the laws on board American ships and within the three-mile limit. If the people do not favor the law in this form, Congress should change it and not the Department of Justice, according to Mr. Wheeler.

Hospital Patient Leaps to Death From Sixth Floor

Man Jumps Out Window at Mount Sinai, Narrowly Missing Passersby

Sigmund Greenbaum, a patient in a private room on the sixth floor of Mount Sinai Hospital, Fifth Avenue and 100th Street, jumped from his window about 11 o'clock last night. He was dead when attendants found him.

He fell into an alleyway beside the sidewalk, narrowly missing several persons who were passing the institution at the time. One of them ran into the hospital and informed the night superintendent that a patient had jumped from a window.

Hospital authorities declined to give any information concerning the incident. The medical examiner was notified and will conduct an examination.

Mrs. Greenbaum was notified and came from her home, at 854 Liggett Avenue, the Bronx. She said her husband was operated upon for appendicitis at the hospital Wednesday and seemed to be making good progress toward recovery. She was at a loss to explain his act.

He was forty-nine years old, a hat manufacturer, with a place of business at 14 East Ninth Street.

Baby Mistakes Firecracker for Candy; Dies of Poisoning

Katherine Coyne, two years old, of 2207 Madison Avenue, died late Saturday night in Harlem Hospital from phosphorus poisoning, having mistaken a "nigger chaser" for a piece of candy. This is the second death within three days from the same cause. The other child was Catherine Fitzpatrick, five years old, of 709 Amsterdam Avenue.

Assistant Medical Examiner George Heiman, who performed the autopsy, said the "nigger chaser" which are a mild form of firecracker, might easily be mistaken for candy and that the Board of Health should take steps to stop the sale of them.

France Sells All U. S. War Stock

PARIS, July 9 (By The Associated Press).—American army war stock left in France by the American Expeditionary Forces, the sale of which by the government to private individuals and companies has just been completed, fetched 8,222,000,000 francs.

Sloan's Liniment

Just a word about Sloan's Liniment. Then hang it on a string above your head. No more mosquitoes. Use Sloan's Liniment for every aching muscle. — it kills pain!

Chases mosquitoes

Those pesky sleep robbers just hate Sloan's. Soak a wad of cotton in the Liniment. Then hang it on a string above your head. No more mosquitoes. Use Sloan's Liniment for every aching muscle. — it kills pain!

Chases mosquitoes

Those pesky sleep robbers just hate Sloan's. Soak a wad of cotton in the Liniment. Then hang it on a string above your head. No more mosquitoes. Use Sloan's Liniment for every aching muscle. — it kills pain!

Chases mosquitoes

Those pesky sleep robbers just hate Sloan's. Soak a wad of cotton in the Liniment. Then hang it on a string above your head. No more mosquitoes. Use Sloan's Liniment for every aching muscle. — it kills pain!

Chases mosquitoes

Those pesky sleep robbers just hate Sloan's. Soak a wad of cotton in the Liniment. Then hang it on a string above your head. No more mosquitoes. Use Sloan's Liniment for every aching muscle. — it kills pain!

Policeman Captures 7 After 30-Mile Dash on Motorcycle

Seven men, who are said to have stolen $39.75 from the cash register in a garage in Elizabeth, N. J., while the proprietor was filling the gas tank of their car, were caught early yesterday morning in Red Bank, thirty miles away, by a motorcycle policeman who was one of three who set out after them and raced most of the way to Red Bank at more than fifty miles an hour.

The prisoners are Dominick Seleno, of 7003 Thirteenth Street, Brooklyn; John De Salvo, of 116 New York Avenue, Brooklyn; and Nicholas Cassara, of 70 Warwick Street, Andrew Sages, of 29 East Kinney Street; Christopher Glante, of 279 Adams Street; Harry Benner, of 110 Elizabeth Avenue; and Tony De Angelis, of 247 Westfield Avenue, Newark.

William Borneman, night watchman in Stanley Reed's garage at 25 Westfield Avenue, Elizabeth, is said to have identified them as the men who drove up to the garage about 3:45 a. m. and demanded gas, oil and air. They wandered about the garage, he said, while their wants were being satisfied, and as they drove away he noticed the cash register had been opened and emptied.

Patrolman August Winkelman is the man who captured them. He set out in pursuit on his motorcycle with two other motorcycle policemen, Joseph Coughlin and Edward Flaherty, about fifteen minutes after the theft was discovered. Captain Brogan and half a dozen patrolmen followed in two automobiles.

Coughlin's machine skidded and threw him before he reached the outskirts of Elizabeth. Flaherty stayed with the chase as far as Linden, where a tire blew out and he was flung into a ditch. Winkelman kept on, sending bullets over the heads of the fugitives whenever he drew within range.

"Most of the way," he said, "I was going better than fifty-five miles an hour, and I never got below fifty except on curves."

In Red Bank he overhauled the fleeing car and had its occupants lined up in the road when Captain Brogan and his men reached the spot. The prisoners denied knowing anything about the theft. Neither of the policemen threw from their motorcycles was seriously hurt.

The government that all employees shall have old age pensions was held yesterday. The President came out of his house to welcome the multitude and receive a commission carrying petitions, which were later delivered by the President to the Chamber of Deputies.

The city was beautifully decorated and brilliantly lighted last night on the eve of the celebration of Argentina's independence. A great parade and patriotic festivities were held to-day. Brazilian and Uruguayan warships were present.

Train Kills Motorist; Son and Niece Injured

Driver Alights Near Crossing, but Starts Again, and Car Fails to Clear Tracks

NEWTON, N. J., July 9.—Loren Shay, thirty-nine years old, a boss plumber of this place, was killed late last night, and his son, Kenneth, and his niece, Miss Blanche Shay, injured when an automobile in which they were riding was struck by a freight train of the Lehigh & New England Railroad at a crossing in Augusta, between here and Branchville.

Shay was driving the automobile and as he approached the crossing it was raining hard. He stopped the machine near the crossing and then started up when he heard no train approaching. The machine was partly over the tracks when the headlight of the freight was seen close by.

The girl and the young man leaped from the car just in time. Shay was carried down the tracks with the wreck of the automobile and was dead when picked up. Miss Shay suffered a sprained ankle, bruises and shock. Young Shay was cut on the head.

Brazilian Workers in Parade Demand Old Age Pension Law

BUENOS AYRES, July 9.—A great crowd and procession of civilian workers, comprising both women and men, demanding compulsory legislation by

50 Shots, 8 Police Halt Flight of Burglar Suspect

Apartment Neighbors Arm With Rolling Pins and Flat Irons, but Intruder Does a Back-Fence Marathon

Eight policemen pursued an alleged burglar early yesterday morning through several back yards and over fences in the Williamsburg section of Brooklyn, firing shots at him whenever they could. More than fifty shots were fired before he finally was caught in a doorway in Division Street and the entire neighborhood had been aroused.

The prisoner described himself as Frank Bennett, twenty-three years old, of 406 West Twenty-fifth Street. He was arraigned before Magistrate Dale in Bridge Plaza court and held without bail for examination to-morrow.

The burglar was first seen by Mrs. Anna Todd, of 110 Lee Avenue. She heard a noise in the airshaft and looking out of the window she saw a man standing on a chair trying to force his way through the window of the apartment of Mrs. Bella Fox, of 112 Lee Avenue. Hastily arming herself with a rolling pin Mrs. Todd went into the hall and awoke the neighbors. The police of the Clymer Street station were notified, and the men and women of the house, equipped with a fine assortment of flat irons and other kitchen tools, stood in the hall and awaited developments.

The police arrived in an automobile and were led to the areaway. The burglar made for the fence. Policeman Etore Castellano went after him and got caught on the barbed wire, cutting his arms and legs. The other policemen took up the chase. Shots began to crack.

Bennett denied that he was the man who had been chased through the yards. He said that he had heard the shots on the street and that he had run. He could not explain, however, what he was doing in the neighborhood.

Man Falls From Steamer and Drowns as It Docks in Albany

ALBANY, N. Y., July 9.—William Sieneviese, of Detroit, was drowned to-night when he fell from the upper deck of the Steamer Robert Fulton just as the big day liner was docking here.

Sieneviese was accompanied from New York by his wife and her parents, also of Detroit, who said he had been complaining of illness on the trip up. All efforts of Day Line employees to rescue him failed.

Two Airmen Killed in Crash at Paraguayan Rebels' Stronghold

BUENOS AYRES, July 9.—"La Nacion's" Asuncion correspondent, sends a military headquarters report to-day that a government airplane has crashed in the town of Yaguaron, where the rebels are established, killing Pilots Steward and Cusmanich.

Captain Steward, a former British army flying man who fought in the World War, left Buenos Ayres recently to serve the Paraguayan government.

Train Kills Motorist; Son and Niece Injured

Driver Alights Near Crossing, but Starts Again, and Car Fails to Clear Tracks

NEWTON, N. J., July 9.—Loren Shay, thirty-nine years old, a boss plumber of this place, was killed late last night, and his son, Kenneth, and his niece, Miss Blanche Shay, injured when an automobile in which they were riding was struck by a freight train of the Lehigh & New England Railroad at a crossing in Augusta, between here and Branchville.

Shay was driving the automobile and as he approached the crossing it was raining hard. He stopped the machine near the crossing and then started up when he heard no train approaching. The machine was partly over the tracks when the headlight of the freight was seen close by.

The girl and the young man leaped from the car just in time. Shay was carried down the tracks with the wreck of the automobile and was dead when picked up. Miss Shay suffered a sprained ankle, bruises and shock. Young Shay was cut on the head.

Brazilian Workers in Parade Demand Old Age Pension Law

BUENOS AYRES, July 9.—A great crowd and procession of civilian workers, comprising both women and men, demanding compulsory legislation by

Train Kills Motorist; Son and Niece Injured

Driver Alights Near Crossing, but Starts Again, and Car Fails to Clear Tracks

NEWTON, N. J., July 9.—Loren Shay, thirty-nine years old, a boss plumber of this place, was killed late last night, and his son, Kenneth, and his niece, Miss Blanche Shay, injured when an automobile in which they were riding was struck by a freight train of the Lehigh & New England Railroad at a crossing in Augusta, between here and Branchville.

Shay was driving the automobile and as he approached the crossing it was raining hard. He stopped the machine near the crossing and then started up when he heard no train approaching. The machine was partly over the tracks when the headlight of the freight was seen close by.

The girl and the young man leaped from the car just in time. Shay was carried down the tracks with the wreck of the automobile and was dead when picked up. Miss Shay suffered a sprained ankle, bruises and shock. Young Shay was cut on the head.

Brazilian Workers in Parade Demand Old Age Pension Law

BUENOS AYRES, July 9.—A great crowd and procession of civilian workers, comprising both women and men, demanding compulsory legislation by

Train Kills Motorist; Son and Niece Injured

Driver Alights Near Crossing, but Starts Again, and Car Fails to Clear Tracks

NEWTON, N. J., July 9.—Loren Shay, thirty-nine years old, a boss plumber of this place, was killed late last night, and his son, Kenneth, and his niece, Miss Blanche Shay, injured when an automobile in which they were riding was struck by a freight train of the Lehigh & New England Railroad at a crossing in Augusta, between here and Branchville.

Shay was driving the automobile and as he approached the crossing it was raining hard. He stopped the machine near the crossing and then started up when he heard no train approaching. The machine was partly over the tracks when the headlight of the freight was seen close by.

The girl and the young man leaped from the car just in time. Shay was carried down the tracks with the wreck of the automobile and was dead when picked up. Miss Shay suffered a sprained ankle, bruises and shock. Young Shay was cut on the head.

Brazilian Workers in Parade Demand Old Age Pension Law

BUENOS AYRES, July 9.—A great crowd and procession of civilian workers, comprising both women and men, demanding compulsory legislation by

Train Kills Motorist; Son and Niece Injured

Driver Alights Near Crossing, but Starts Again, and Car Fails to Clear Tracks

NEWTON, N. J., July 9.—Loren Shay, thirty-nine years old, a boss plumber of this place, was killed late last night, and his son, Kenneth, and his niece, Miss Blanche Shay, injured when an automobile in which they were riding was struck by a freight train of the Lehigh & New England Railroad at a crossing in Augusta, between here and Branchville.

Shay was driving the automobile and as he approached the crossing it was raining hard. He stopped the machine near the crossing and then started up when he heard no train approaching. The machine was partly over the tracks when the headlight of the freight was seen close by.

The girl and the young man leaped from the car just in time. Shay was carried down the tracks with the wreck of the automobile and was dead when picked up. Miss Shay suffered a sprained ankle, bruises and shock. Young Shay was cut on the head.

Brazilian Workers in Parade Demand Old Age Pension Law

BUENOS AYRES, July 9.—A great crowd and procession of civilian workers, comprising both women and men, demanding compulsory legislation by

Train Kills Motorist; Son and Niece Injured

Driver Alights Near Crossing, but Starts Again, and Car Fails to Clear Tracks

NEWTON, N. J., July 9.—Loren Shay, thirty-nine years old, a boss plumber of this place, was killed late last night, and his son, Kenneth, and his niece, Miss Blanche Shay, injured when an automobile in which they were riding was struck by a freight train of the Lehigh & New England Railroad at a crossing in Augusta, between here and Branchville.

Shay was driving the automobile and as he approached the crossing it was raining hard. He stopped the machine near the crossing and then started up when he heard no train approaching. The machine was partly over the tracks when the headlight of the freight was seen close by.

The girl and the young man leaped from the car just in time. Shay was carried down the tracks with the wreck of the automobile and was dead when picked up. Miss Shay suffered a sprained ankle, bruises and shock. Young Shay was cut on the head.

Brazilian Workers in Parade Demand Old Age Pension Law

BUENOS AYRES, July 9.—A great crowd and procession of civilian workers, comprising both women and men, demanding compulsory legislation by burglar made for the fence. Policeman Etore Castellano went after him and got caught on the barbed wire, cutting his arms and legs. The other policemen took up the chase. Shots began to crack.

Bennett denied that he was the man who had been chased through the yards. He said that he had heard the shots on the street and that he had run. He could not explain, however, what he was doing in the neighborhood.

Man Falls From Steamer and Drowns as It Docks in Albany

ALBANY, N. Y., July 9.—William Sieneviese, of Detroit, was drowned to-night when he fell from the upper deck of the Steamer Robert Fulton just as the big day liner was docking here.

Sieneviese was accompanied from New York by his wife and her parents, also of Detroit, who said he had been complaining of illness on the trip up. All efforts of Day Line employees to rescue him failed.

Two Airmen Killed in Crash at Paraguayan Rebels' Stronghold

BUENOS AYRES, July 9.—"La Nacion's" Asuncion correspondent, sends a military headquarters report to-day that a government airplane has crashed in the town of Yaguaron, where the rebels are established, killing Pilots Steward and Cusmanich.

Captain Steward, a former British army flying man who fought in the World War, left Buenos Ayres recently to serve the Paraguayan government.

Train Kills Motorist; Son and Niece Injured

Driver Alights Near Crossing, but Starts Again, and Car Fails to Clear Tracks

NEWTON, N. J., July 9.—Loren Shay, thirty-nine years old, a boss plumber of this place, was killed late last night, and his son, Kenneth, and his niece, Miss Blanche Shay, injured when an automobile in which they were riding was struck by a freight train of the Lehigh & New England Railroad at a crossing in Augusta, between here and Branchville.

Shay was driving the automobile and as he approached the crossing it was raining hard. He stopped the machine near the crossing and then started up when he heard no train approaching. The machine was partly over the tracks when the headlight of the freight was seen close by.

The girl and the young man leaped from the car just in time. Shay was carried down the tracks with the wreck of the automobile and was dead when picked up. Miss Shay suffered a sprained ankle, bruises and shock. Young Shay was cut on the head.

Brazilian Workers in Parade Demand Old Age Pension Law

BUENOS AYRES, July 9.—A great crowd and procession of civilian workers, comprising both women and men, demanding compulsory legislation by

Train Kills Motorist; Son and Niece Injured

Driver Alights Near Crossing, but Starts Again, and Car Fails to Clear Tracks

NEWTON, N. J., July 9.—Loren Shay, thirty-nine years old, a boss plumber of this place, was killed late last night, and his son, Kenneth, and his niece, Miss Blanche Shay, injured when an automobile in which they were riding was struck by a freight train of the Lehigh & New England Railroad at a crossing in Augusta, between here and Branchville.

Shay was driving the automobile and as he approached the crossing it was raining hard. He stopped the machine near the crossing and then started up when he heard no train approaching. The machine was partly over the tracks when the headlight of the freight was seen close by.

The girl and the young man leaped from the car just in time. Shay was carried down the tracks with the wreck of the automobile and was dead when picked up. Miss Shay suffered a sprained ankle, bruises and shock. Young Shay was cut on the head.

Brazilian Workers in Parade Demand Old Age Pension Law

BUENOS AYRES, July 9.—A great crowd and procession of civilian workers, comprising both women and men, demanding compulsory legislation by

Train Kills Motorist; Son and Niece Injured

Driver Alights Near Crossing, but Starts Again, and Car Fails to Clear Tracks

NEWTON, N. J., July 9.—Loren Shay, thirty-nine years old, a boss plumber of this place, was killed late last night, and his son, Kenneth, and his niece, Miss Blanche Shay, injured when an automobile in which they were riding was struck by a freight train of the Lehigh & New England Railroad at a crossing in Augusta, between here and Branchville.

Shay was driving the automobile and as he approached the crossing it was raining hard. He stopped the machine near the crossing and then started up when he heard no train approaching. The machine was partly over the tracks when the headlight of the freight was seen close by.

The girl and the young man leaped from the car just in time. Shay was carried down the tracks with the wreck of the automobile and was dead when picked up. Miss Shay suffered a sprained ankle, bruises and shock. Young Shay was cut on the head.

Brazilian Workers in Parade Demand Old Age Pension Law

BUENOS AYRES, July 9.—A great crowd and procession of civilian workers, comprising both women and men, demanding compulsory legislation by

Train Kills Motorist; Son and Niece Injured

Driver Alights Near Crossing, but Starts Again, and Car Fails to Clear Tracks

NEWTON, N. J., July 9.—Loren Shay, thirty-nine years old, a boss plumber of this place, was killed late last night, and his son, Kenneth, and his niece, Miss Blanche Shay, injured when an automobile in which they were riding was struck by a freight train of the Lehigh & New England Railroad at a crossing in Augusta, between here and Branchville.

Shay was driving the automobile and as he approached the crossing it was raining hard. He stopped the machine near the crossing and then started up when he heard no train approaching. The machine was partly over the tracks when the headlight of the freight was seen close by.

The girl and the young man leaped from the car just in time. Shay was carried down the tracks with the wreck of the automobile and was dead when picked up. Miss Shay suffered a sprained ankle, bruises and shock. Young Shay was cut on the head.

Brazilian Workers in Parade Demand Old Age Pension Law

BUENOS AYRES, July 9.—A great crowd and procession of civilian workers, comprising both women and men, demanding compulsory legislation by

Train Kills Motorist; Son and Niece Injured

Driver Alights Near Crossing, but Starts Again, and Car Fails to Clear Tracks

NEWTON, N. J., July 9.—Loren Shay, thirty-nine years old, a boss plumber of this place, was killed late last night, and his son, Kenneth, and his niece, Miss Blanche Shay, injured when an automobile in which they were riding was struck by a freight train of the Lehigh & New England Railroad at a crossing in Augusta, between here and Branchville.

Shay was driving the automobile and as he approached the crossing it was raining hard. He stopped the machine near the crossing and then started up when he heard no train approaching. The machine was partly over the tracks when the headlight of the freight was seen close by.

The girl and the young man leaped from the car just in time. Shay was carried down the tracks with the wreck of the automobile and was dead when picked up. Miss Shay suffered a sprained ankle, bruises and shock. Young Shay was cut on the head.

Brazilian Workers in Parade Demand Old Age Pension Law

BUENOS AYRES, July 9.—A great crowd and procession of civilian workers, comprising both women and men, demanding compulsory legislation by

Train Kills Motorist; Son and Niece Injured

Driver Alights Near Crossing, but Starts Again, and Car Fails to Clear Tracks

NEWTON, N. J., July 9.—Loren Shay, thirty-nine years old, a boss plumber of this place, was killed late last night, and his son, Kenneth, and his niece, Miss Blanche Shay, injured when an automobile in which they were riding was struck by a freight train of the Lehigh & New England Railroad at a crossing in Augusta, between here and Branchville.

Sunday

without the

TRIBUNE

means you've missed

four pages of sports news and comment written by the liveliest staff of readable sporting writers ever gathered together on a newspaper. Sunday without The Tribune means you've missed—and his famous "Spotlight" column and popular "Tales of the Wayside Tee."

...

GRANTLAND RICE

...

W. J. MACBETH

and his interestingly given account of how the horses ran down at the track on Saturday.

...

FRED HAWTHORNE

and his corking fine report of that championship tennis match on the courts at Forest Hills.

...

RAY McCARTHY

and his entertainingly told story of how the finals of that important golf tourney were settled on the thirty-seventh green.

...

W. B. HANNA

and his inside dope and comment of the baseball world.

...

JACK LAWRENCE

and his graphic story of that thrilling finish of the eight-oared shells—or his colorful round by round description of Saturday night's big pugilistic battle.

...

</